Out There Inside of Us

17 March - 23 March 2014

Foreword

Out There Inside of Us

Hus Gallery is pleased to announce a solo exhibition of new works by Israeli artist Danielle Orsinger. This exhibition focuses on the artist's investigation into the material potential of paper, sand, thread, lacquer, Moroccan coloured pigment, and ink. The twelve works presented are tactile, personal creations that illustrate the Orsinger's interest in the overlap between the individual subject and the natural world.

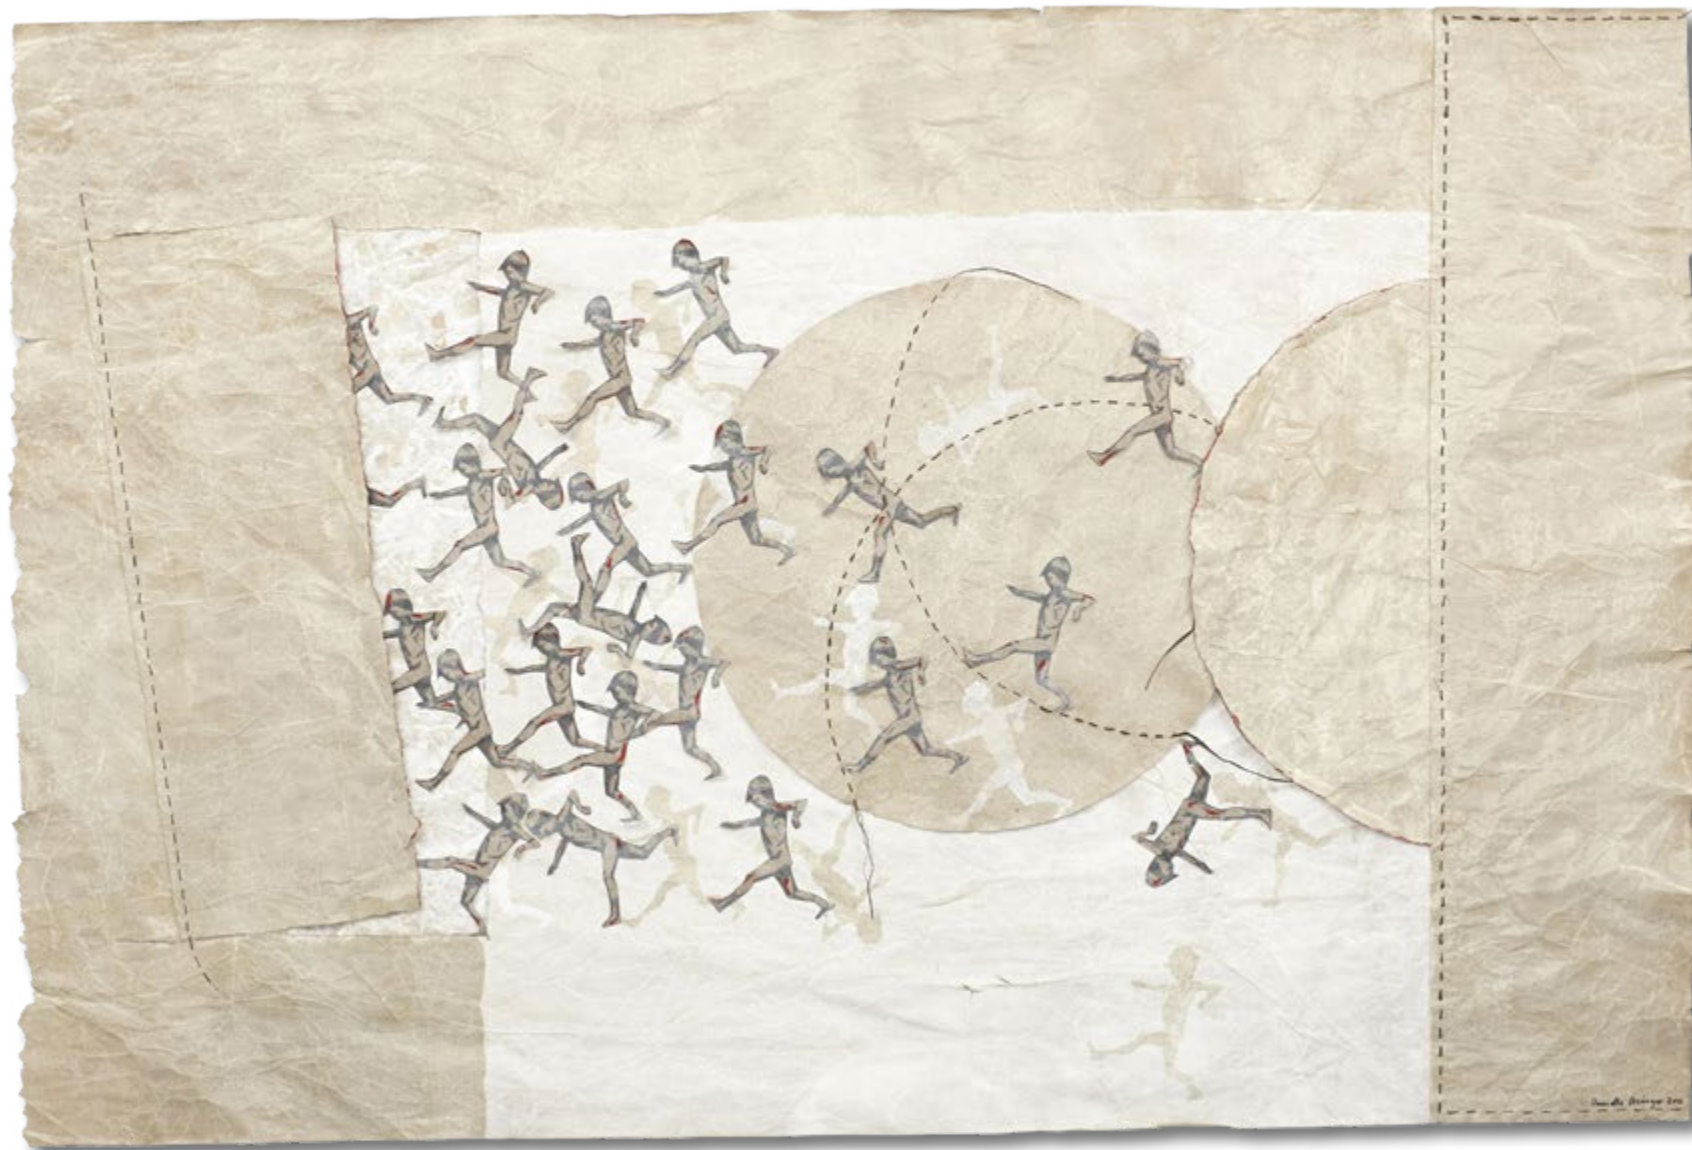

Originally from a small village in the Swiss Alps, Orsinger moved to Tel-Aviv when she was 19 after selecting the city at random by choosing a point on a globe whilst blindfolded. Claiming influences from both Swiss and Israeli cultures, Orsinger's work reflects this dual identity through her appropriation of the human form as an emblem of mobility and universal interaction. Orsinger uses written text in conjunction with a wide range of materials to create works that are reflections of the imperfect beauty of the world around us.

There is a strong element of chance in her work, as Orsinger lets each work develop organically rather than following a strict aesthetic plan. Rich red thread and creased paper are overlapped and re-worked with elements of collage and ink, giving the viewer the feeling that each piece is a window into the artist's subconscious. The result is a body of work that is both sculptural and painterly, a hybridity that only further illustrates Orsinger's interest in the unpredictability of our environment.

Danielle Orsinger: Out There Inside of Us, will be on show at Hus Gallery, 10 Hanover Street, W1S 1YQ, London from 17 – 23 March, 2014
